An Estimated Surplus.

An Estimated Surplus.

Washing.on, D. C., December 7.—A statement prepared by Mesers. Courts & Cleaves, clerks respectively to the liouse and Senate Committees on Appropriations, show that the estimates for the regular annual and permanent appropriations for the becaly year 1893–94 aggregate $505,861,335, an increase over the extinuates for the current fiscal year of $15,929,241, and over the appropriations (exclusive of deficiencies and miscolianeous) of $17,375,260. The appropriations, however, included $21,154,218 for rivers and harbors, for which no estimates are made. The total estimated revenues for 1894 aggregate $490,121,365, including $85,121,365 estimated postal revenues. This leaves an excess of estimated appropriations (exclusive of deficiencies and miscolianeous) over estimated revenues of $15,730,969, and by deducting from the estimated expenditures $48,600,000 for the sinking fund, an excess in estimated recepts over estimated expenditures is figured out of $32,800,031.

These estimates do not include anything for rivers and harbors, on account of which the Chief of Engineers says that $58,064,050 can be profitably expended.

COUPON CASES ON TRIAL.

Judge Hancock opened the second day of his Circuit Court here to-day, and began business with the trial of coupon cases, of which there were 186 on the docket. Judge W. H. Mann, of Nottoway, and Commonwealth's Autorney Mulier appeared for the Stafe, and Colonel Maury, of Richmond, and Mr. W. P. McRae for the iax-payers. Many interesting questions of law were raised by the counsel for the Stafe, which, as a caneral thing, were decided by the Court in favor of the coupon-payers. Exceptions to the rulings of the Court were taken by the Stafe counsel, and the principles involved will be carried up to the Court of Appeals for decision. Among those exceptions was that involving the constitutionality of the funding bill, in that if a part of that bill was unconstitutional the whole was invalid; in other words, if a part of the bill was unconstitutional the whole was fivalid. This question was overcaled by the Court, and this ruling applied to all of the cases tried. The remainder of the week will be consumed in the disposition of these cases. COUPON CASES ON TRIAL.

Jackson, Miss., December 7.—(Special to the Associated Press.)—On account of an apparent conflict between the State and Federal laws, a majority of the presidential electors of Mississippi assembled here to-may, but after investigation it was decided to follow the Federal stantes and reconvene here the second Monday in January next.

MEMDIAN, Miss., December 7.—(Special to the Associated Press.)—John White, a negro, was hanged here to-day for the murder of James Logan, another negro. His death was convulsive and herrified the 4,000 people who with missed It. He died with what the negroes call the "holy laugh," and declared that he was going straight to Beaven. He confessed to three murders in Louisians before coming to Mississippi. (By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

London Silver Market.

[By Anglo-American cable to the Dispatch.]

LONDON, December 7.—Under fears of a suspension by the American Government of the Sherman act and some sudden change in the Indian policy, business in the silver market here has been virtually discontinued. The dealings are confined to spot silver. Leading eastern bankers do not believe that any precipitate action will be taken by either America or India, but they are, nevertheless, fortifying themselves against any surprise. The Financial Vers thinks that a compromise on the silver question in the United States will take the form of a return to the Bland act.

The silver market is so unsettled that dealers refuse to give quotations. All silver securities London Silver Market.

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

CHICAGO, ILL., December 7.—Judge Gresham to-day rendered one of the most important decisions which have been handed down since the interstate-commerce act was enacted. Last July W. G. Bronson, D. Brown, L. Hopkins, Henry Walker, W. R. Stocking, and others refused to answer certain questions propounded by the Interstate-Commerce Commission, and, under the twelfth section of the act, District-Attorney Milchrist brought a petition before Judge Gresham to compel the production of books and the answer of the questions. Judge Gresham in a long opinion refuses to grant the petition to compel the witnesses to testify and produce books, holding that the court could not be made subridiary to or a subordinate auxiliary to a non-judicial and administrative body. Ngw Orleans, December 7.—[Special to the Associated Press.]—Superintendent, of -Police Gasker ridicules the story of William Sauers, the man arrested in Denver on a charge of robery, who confessed to complicity in the Killing of Chief-of-Police Hennessy, of New Orleans. It is believed that Sauers is stranded and wants to get home.

bly. He described the measure as a scheme of consection under the forms of law. He said it violated the State's contract to give corporations a chance to live, expressed in the charters granted them, and that it went beyond the idea of communism, which is to selse private property to be divided among the people; to anarchy, which means the wanton destruction of values without purpose or benefit to any-body.

tion of values without purpose or benefit to anybody.

He described the present unfavorable condition of southern roads, declared it was caused in a great measure by unfriendly legislation and oppression by raffroad commissioners, and earnestly urged that the properties be given a living chance. He declared it the purpose of the roads to submit to the law as long as they could do so, but intimated that if forced to fight for their lives they would do so, and would exhaust all the powers of the courts to secure protection and a chance to exist. If the bill passed it would cause consternation in financial circles, followed by endless litigation for the State and people. This wholesale railroad-commission business was started as a matter of political provender, but it has grown into a machine for property oppression, and now you are asked to make it an instrument of confeccation.

Colonel McBes declared that the operation of such a law might destroy the railroads as completely by our own people as if General Sherman were again at work.
